

50

55

65

70

75

Death or mercy I ask of you indeed,
 My only beloved,
 For I am so stricken with grief
 That, by my soul,
 There is no one sadder in this kingdom.
 But I thank
 Love who wills that it should be thus,
 And you too,
 Who carry the amorous flame
 By which I am killed.