

3.[Passamezzo antico]

[Incomplete]

Anonymous

The musical score consists of ten staves of tablature for lute, arranged in two columns of five staves each. Each staff begins with a measure number (1, 5, 10, 15, 20) and features a vocal or rhythmic line below it. The notation uses vertical stems and horizontal dashes to represent pitch and rhythm. Various letters (a, b, r, d, f) are placed under specific notes to indicate fingerings or specific performance techniques.
